Oklahoma Agritourism Risk-Management Workshop Set for July 28

The Oklahoma Department of Agriculture, Food and Forestry (ODAFF) will be hosting a free workshop for Agritourism participants from all across the state. The workshop will be held on July 28 from 9 a.m. to noon in the second floor Conference Room of the ODAFF Laboratory at 2800 N. Lincoln Blvd., Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Hosted by the ODAFF Agritourism coordinators, the workshop will primarily focus on helping Agritourism participants learn more about assessing risks on their operations. Participants will outline essential elements needed in a risk management plan. The workshop will provide another tool for Agritourism operations to minimize risk and ensure a pleasant experience for visitors.

For more information on the Oklahoma Agritourism program or the upcoming Risk Management Workshop, please visit www.oklahomaagritourism.com or contact Becca Lasich at becca.lasich@ag.ok.gov, or 405-488-7532 and Lori Coats at lori.coats@ag.ok.gov or 405-420-9242.
